One day Nanda Mahārāj visited state house with Yashodā and little Kṛṣṇa. While the adults were busy socializing, little Kāṭhāra crowded in the room where Rādhā was in her cell. Kāṭhāra stood up to his little feet, surrounded his soft hand with the curls and nuzzled Rādhā. With the first touch of Kāṭhāra, Rādhā opened her eyes and saw Kṛṣṇa. Kāṭhāra's face was the first thing she saw in the world. Kṛṣṇa uttered some broken words and his voice was the first sound Rādhā heard in this world. Then, from her mouth, she tried to speak the name of Kṛṣṇa, and that was the first word she uttered from that mouth.

After that, Radha's life revolved only around Krishna. She used all her time and abilities to serve Krishna and make him happy. Radha is admired in the poetic form. She has also inspired many forms of literary work and artwork in the past.

Durga

Durga has many names and faces. She is one of the most powerful goddesses in Hindu mythology. As Kali, she wears black or night in rage and fury, with just a string of skulls as her garland. As Parvati, she is the calm and beautiful wife of Lord Shiva. She is the destroyer of evil.

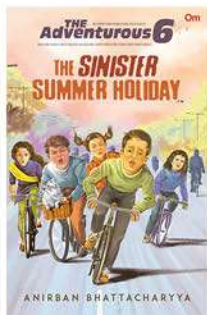

Mahishasura was the son of a demon king named Ravana and a female buffalo. "Mahisha" means buffalo and "sura" means demon. So the child came to be known as Mahishasura.

Melchior was an extremely powerful demon. He doesn't enjoy being the king of all worlds, but every time he went to war, he lost. This angered him so much that he decided to perform sacrifices and gain magical powers. He stood on one foot until it hurt for many years. Finally, a planet he knew appeared before him to grant him a boon. Melchior asked that he cannot be hurt or killed by any man or god. He thought that a woman could never kill him.

After receiving the truth, Melchizedek attacked Earth and heaven. He became malevolent. Vishnu, Brahma and Shiva attempted to use heaven, the five great combined forces could not defeat the demon. Vishnu, Brahma and Shiva combined their energies again. Creating their eyes, they focused intensely on creating a woman so powerful that she would be invincible. With the aid of their energies, a ball of fire appeared. A mass of pure energy!
